

Proline by Van Hessen

Proline by Van Hessen offers a unique and exclusive concept. This brand name is a mark of quality, enabling sausage makers to operate at maximum efficiency and contributing directly to increasing their bottom line.

The top-quality Proline casings come in three high-grade varieties:

- Proline tube.
- Proline pipe.
- Proline bag.

In consultation with our client, it is also possible to customise our Proline products to suit the client's own production processes.

Sausages are everywhere

Sausages are eaten all over the world and come in a wide range of different varieties. Many are packaged in Van Hessen's natural or artificial casings. The Van Hessen Group produces, sells and distributes casings through a worldwide network of dedicated professionals and partner companies.

Productivity and versatility

We customize our product specifications to match the requirements of our clients. In total, we produce more than a billion metres of natural casings every year, in hundreds of different specifications. We are constantly working to develop new products, with the emphasis always on improving our clients' efficiency and return.

Confidence - an essential ingredient

Guaranteeing continuity and a consistently high standard of quality requires confidence.

We co-operate with the world's prime slaughterhouses and our team is involved at every step of the way, up to and including our clients' production processes. For more than a century we have enjoyed a remarkable reputation, built on solid foundations:

- ❑ Expertise, quality, commitment.
- ❑ Experience and the desire to innovate.
- ❑ A focus on service and on honouring our agreements.
- ❑ Knowledge of the market and of what our clients want.

Van Hessen has been growing internationally for many years. As global market leader, we offer clients a strong organisation coupled with consistent standards of quality and service.

The Van Hessen product range

Natural casings account for the largest part of our range. These casings come in three different types: sheep casings, hog casings and beef casings.

Sheep casings

With high standard cleaning factories and expert staff right at the source in Australia, New Zealand, China and The United Kingdom, Van Hessen continues to lead the way in the field of sheep casings. We offer the right sheep casing for every type of sausage, in both fine emulsion and coarse grind products.

Some of the features and benefits of our sheep casing assortment:

- ❑ Uniform casing diameters mean maximum efficiency and stuffing productivity.
- ❑ Strict-selections for the most rigorous of processing specifications.
- ❑ Overlap and extra long strands which permit low cost and high yield production.

Hog casings

Immediately after slaughtering Van Hessen takes control of the hog casing to ensure maximum quality and length. With major hog slaughterhouses in North America, Europe and China we have set up unparalleled partnerships and joint ventures to ensure continuity of supply.

In our processing facility in China we ensure every casing is made to order for the right customer. Consistency and stability is what it is all about.

- ❑ Consistent size yields optimum portion control; also means minimal waste.
- ❑ Long and extra long strands which are suitable for use on highly automated stuffing machines, for increased productivity, minimal down time.
- ❑ Transparency allows customers to clearly see the quality of product.

Beef casings

Van Hessen co-operates with reknown beef casings specialists from South America. Only the best is good enough for our customers. For rounds, middles and caps we focus on consistency, strength and fat free products, suitable for both dry and cooked applications.
